Centre of attention

by Dick Townsend-Smith

NEW swimming pools, a large library with computers, and a superbly-equipped gym will all be on offer to locals when the new Greenwich Centre opens shortly.

The centre on Vanbrugh Hill is the third Royal Borough Centre to be built and will house first-class community facilities as well as a health centre, a crèche and a cafe.

The leisure centre will be run by GLL, with brand-new facilities that mirror what is currently provided at the Arches centre nearby. It will have a new sixlane main pool and shallower learner pool, both of which maximise the pool space for people learning to swim.

The state-of-the-art gym will have more than 100 pieces of equipment.

The new library is considerably bigger than the current one in East Greenwich and will be the third largest in the borough. It will have longer opening hours, more books and 48 new computers for users. It has been designed as a 'digital hub' and will also have a children's area with tablets for children to use. Staff will be on hand to help people make the most of the new IT suite, where they will find it easy and more efficient to access council services online.

Cllr Denise Hyland, leader of the royal borough, said: "It's brilliant news for the residents of Greenwich and the borough as a whole that we're about to open the new Greenwich Centre. It's a superb building which completes our long-term vision of delivering new, modern and more efficient services to residents by building our three new local centres and

PETER HOWARD, Avery Hill: 'Who's a chilly bird?'

Statement on Greenwich Time

THE Royal Borough of Greenwich is to challenge a direction from the Government demanding that Greenwich Time is reduced from a weekly newspaper to four editions a year.

The Royal Borough – like all local authorities – has a legal duty to place adverts about important information like planning applications and roadworks in a local weekly newspaper. By law, these adverts can only go in a local newspaper, not on the council's website.

It costs nearly half a million pounds to place these adverts each year and so we asked local papers to give us a price for an annual contract to run them. The cheapest price would have meant a £250,000 increase on advertising every year – the same as £2.31 for each and every household in the borough. This is at a time when councils are under enormous pressure to keep council tax bills low and to provide key services in the face of wide-ranging cuts to budgets.

Unlike other local newspapers, Greenwich Time is also delivered to every household in the borough meaning everyone living in the borough has the same opportunity to find out about essential local information, from job vacancies to council houses that are available.

The decision has been taken following legal advice that the council has a strong case for a judicial review of the decision, meaning if successful, the legal challenge would not cost a penny.

Greenwich Time features important community stories from across the whole borough and isn't aimed at any particular group of people, helping to foster a sense of community.

Councillor Denise Hyland, Leader of the Royal Borough of Greenwich said:

"This is about local democracy and being able to allow all of our residents the same opportunity to access essential information about issues directly concerning them – so that everyone in the borough has the chance to take part in a dialogue on important local matters.

Our decision is driven by how we can best serve our residents and save money on their behalf, at a time when our budgets are severely threatened by cuts. We are being told by Government to find whatever savings we can, then it directs us to spend the equivalent of £2.31 more per household in the borough – making it even harder for us to keep freezing council tax and protect essential services.

"The government also wants us to place information and statutory notices in local newspapers that don't deliver across the whole of the borough which Greenwich Time does, so we want to continue producing it weekly to tell every household in the borough about jobs and training opportunities, council housing as well our planning and highways decisions that everyone should have equal access to. We wouldn't do this if we didn't firmly believe we have a sound case."

Our last name is Belmarsh. Why is the prison so named?

WE are writing in hope that someone might have some information regarding the name of Belmarsh Prison. Our last name is Belmarsh and we are trying to find out why the prison is so named. We wrote to the person in charge of the prison and they replied, saying that the original idea was to name it Woolwich Prison but the people of Woolwich didn't want a prison to be named after their town. However they did not know how it came to be called Belmarsh Prison.

We would appreciate any and all information about naming for our ancestry search.

● Thanks for getting in contact with us all the way from Massachusetts David and Patricia. We are currently looking into your request for information regarding the naming of Belmarsh Prison and will pass on any leads we can find. In the meantime we would love to hear from any readers who have information about the origins of the name.

IF I were to total the number of hours I have spent in traffic staring bleakly out of a bus window upon the splendid view of a construction site, I'm pretty sure I would've been able to re-watch the entire series of Breaking Bad, at least twice! Beating Diabetes

THE royal borough of Greenwich is backing a major nationwide initiative to prevent Diabetes. The first ever National NHS Diabetes Prevention Programme was unveiled last week by the NHS and Public Health England and will aim to significantly reduce the four million people in England otherwise expected to have Type 2 diabetes by 2025.

Despite Type 2 diabetes being largely preventable, 2.5million people in England already have the disease with another 9.6m at high risk of developing it. The campaign will focus on weight loss, physical activity, cooking and nutrition, peer support and will also offer support from trained professionals.

The royal borough and Greenwich Clinical Commissioning Group offer a free Health Check PLUS to help prevent Diabetes. Anyone between 40-74 years old, who is a Greenwich resident or registered with a Greenwich GP and who has not had an NHS Health Check in the last five years is eligible. To find out more visit greenwichhealthcheckplus.org.uk

There is also an online assessment available for people who are concerned that they may have Diabetes can be found at riskscore.diabetes.org.uk/. Depending on your risk, you will get advice or directed to your GP if needed. Anyone concerned that they may be showing symptoms of Diabetes should go to their GP.

Greenwich Healthy Living website has lots of information about local services such as Cookery Clubs and Physical Activity Classes which can help residents improve their lifestyle and prevent Diabetes.

Action to make streets safer

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE police and the council-sponsored Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT) are working to make the streets of Thamesmead safer, and provide activities that help steer younger people away from trouble.

Officers on the beat have distributed newsletters at Abbey Wood train station and to parents at local schools while around 1,000 letters have been delivered to people who live and travel through the area, in a bid to keep them up to date with the work being done by local policing teams.

Safer Neighbourhoods teams are also helping Trust Thamesmead with their new cycling club as part of their 'Now's the Time' programme which encourages people to get active.

As part of their 'Street a week' campaign, Thamesmead officers have visited homes in Abbey Road, Fendyke Road, Coptfield Drive, Dalberg Way, Overton Road, Lanridge Road, Fossington Road, West Heath Road, Glenview and Rushdene to provide crime prevention and security advice. More roads will be covered in the near future.

The council commissions CACT to provide positive youth activities across the borough, with at least two sessions available in each ward, every week. They are open to all young people aged 10-19, and up to age 25 for young people with a disability. They offer activities such as music, drama, digital media, arts and crafts, sport and dance.

In the Thamesmead area, sessions for young people take place at St Paul's Academy, The Link, C2K Community Centre, Foxfield Primary School, Southrise Primary School, Woolwich Poly, Heronsgate Primary School and Hawksmoor Youth Hub.

● Further details are at www.young-greenwich.org.uk

PCSO John Browne, together with Sports England, has set up an athletics training session every Monday afternoon at the Sporting Club in Baylis Avenue. Those who go along can also play football for free.

● For more information about youth boxing, football and athletics sessions, contact officers from the Thamesmead East Safer Neighbourhoods team on 020 8721 2049.

Sergeant Luke Thomas, who patrols and works across Thamesmead, said: "Policing teams have been working to tackle issues brought to our attention at meetings with local residents. We have increased our presence in the area and have made arrests. We would urge those who live, work or visit Thamesmead to inform us about crime or anti-social behaviour in the area. We will deal with all information in confidence and will act swiftly on all intelligence passed to us."

During January and February the police made 24 arrests for offences that included possession of cocaine, cannabis and methamphetamine, production of cannabis, and possession of offensive weapons.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety and environment, said: "A lot of work is taking place to make Thamesmead safer and more secure for families, children, and people of all ages. I am very grateful to all those who are determined to make a difference to life in the community."

Nepalese crime-fighting workshop

MEMBERS of the borough's Nepalese community met with police and local councillors to talk about tackling crime at a day-long workshop earlier this month. The event at Charlton House focussed on burglary, how police follow it up and what the community can do to prevent it. Councillors Mathew Pennycook, Alan Parker and Garry McCarthy spoke on behalf of the council assuring residents that they will be working closely with local people. Reps from the Safer Neighbourhood Team also issued guidelines on crime prevention measures.

The workshop, chaired by Rom Pandey, chairman of the Charlton Nepalese Society, included a question and answer session which raised issues important to the borough's Nepalese community.

PRIDE OF PLACE: Ann Gurney who named a ward 'Fergusson' after a local doctor with Jan Hall and Val Hall who both suggested the name Nesbit after the local author Edith Nesbit, below, the Eltham MP gets a tour of the new hospital

Name and fame

Winners chosen in hospital ward competition

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE eagerly-awaited new Eltham Community Hospital is now becoming a reality, and is already treating the first patients in its two intermediate care wards.

Local people were invited to suggest names for the wards, and at a ceremony last Tuesday (March 17) the town's MP, Clive Efford, presented prizes to the winners.

The judging panel were looking for names that had strong historical local links with Eltham's past.

The first one will be called the Nesbit Ward, which celebrates the famous author Edith Nesbit, who wrote The Railway Children whilst living at Well Hall in Eltham from 1899 to 1922. It was such a popular choice that a draw was needed to name the winners. They were Jan Hall and Val Hall – who are not related.

Retired community health worker Jan said: Edith Nesbit lived in Well Hall, as I do, and I think people can relate to the fact that she wrote The Railway Children while living in Eltham. The new hospital is a lovely building, and although I don't want to have to use it, it will be lovely if I have to."

The second one will be called the Fergusson Ward, which fondly remembers Dr Fergusson, who was based at the old Cottage Hospital, which was on the new hospital's Passey Place site from the 1880s. It was suggested by resident Ann Gurney.

Mr Efford, a member of the judging panel, presented gift tokens to the three lucky winners. He said: "It is wonderful to finally see the vision become a reality. It has been several years in the making, but I am sure will now bring enormous benefits for local people."

● THE hospital will provide GP practices for Eltham people, as well as delivering high-quality, integrated clinical and community services for people across the whole borough. It will eventually serve the needs of almost 16,000 GP patients while its diagnostic suites will give GPs and health professionals access to equipment including ECG, non-obstetric ultrasound, echocardiogram and X-Ray. There are 40 intermediary care beds, and out-patient consulting rooms that will be able to treat around 32,000 people a year, as well as a minor surgery suite to carry out up to 1,500 minor operations a year. A range of community services is also being relocated to the hospital, including mental health, community nursing, physiotherapy and paediatric departments.

Parents and children welcome Duchess to Woolwich

HEARING ALL VIEWPOINTS: the Duchess meets local mums and, below, Royal Borough of Greenwich leader Cllr Denise Hyland and Mayor Mick Hayes

FAMILIES welcomed a special mum-to-be at Brookhill children's centre last week.

Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Cambridge, thrilled children and their parents when she came to Woolwich last Wednesday (March 18) to visit the centre in Brookhill Road.

She was there to find out more about the centre's work to support local families and to hear about the work of Home-Start, the charity which runs four of the royal borough's 24 children's centres.

The Duchess met the Mayor Mick Hayes, and council leader Denise Hyland. She chatted to Brookhill parents and staff and learned about Home-Start from its UK chief executive Rob Parkinson, and centre manager Dawn Brown.

Her Royal Highness had coffee with families who have been supported by Home-Start and listened to their experiences. She watched a volunteer training session, and visited the centre's crèche to meet families who are benefiting through the royal borough's 'Together for Twos' scheme which provides 15 hours of free early learning per week, for parents with children aged two years old.

Marija Diallo met the Duchess during the coffee morning and told her about the support that her family gets from Brookhill. "I first came to Brookhill to take part in the breastfeeding group," she explained, "Then when my daughter Ana was a bit older I brought her to the stay and play session – and now I'm here two or three times a week to take part in all the activities."

"My husband brings Ana and our son Adam to the dads' group too – they have a great time, and I get the morning off!"

The Duchess also met Marija's friend Abisola Olasupo, who told her about the role parents play in running activities for local families. Abisola, who chairs Brookhill's parents' forum, said, "We organise trips out, barbecues, and our next event is going to be a dressing-up drama event in April. The centre has reached out to a lot of people, and really is at the heart of the local community."

Cllr Hyland said: "We are delighted that The Duchess chose to visit Brookhill to see how it Maintaining our network of children's centres is key to our commitment to ensuring the best possible start in life for all our children. We are pleased to have commissioned Home-Start to run four of our centres, and know that they share our commitment to providing good quality services for local families." The Brookhill centre is one of 24 in the borough. It works with around 1,000 families, and most have children aged under-five.

Autism Awareness

The Royal Borough of Greenwich will be marking World Autism Awareness Day this year with an event on Thursday April 2 in General Gordon Square, Woolwich, between 9.30am and 2.30pm. World Autism Awareness Day has been held every year since 1989 and aims to raise awareness of autism on all levels in society.

There will be a wide range of information and advice stalls from multiple organisations that provide services and support to people with autism and their carers. Organisations including the Greenwich branch of the National Autistic Society, Greenwich etcCentre, Greenwich MIND, Oxleas NHS Foundation Trust and the Royal Borough of Greenwich, which runs a range of services for adults and children with autism.

Autism is a lifelong developmental disability that affects how a person communicates with, and relates to, other people. It also affects how they make sense of the world around them. People with autism may also experience over- or under-sensitivity to sounds, touch, tastes, smells, light or colours.

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH

Next generation

Arts centre for people with disabilities

A NEW project is being launched in Abbey Wood so that people with profound physical and learning disabilities can take part in art activities such as painting and drawing.

It's part of a new generation of community-based projects being established at 10 specially-adapted venues across the borough. They are designed to give people with disabilities the chance to get involved in a wide range of activities and learn new skills.

The Abbey Wood project will be held in the former neighbourhood office in Eynsham Road.

It was visited on Friday (March 20) by Cllr David Gardner, the council's cabinet member for health and social care. He said: "These new projects represent a radical change in the services we offer to adults with serious disabilities. The range and level of opportunities that we will now be able to offer is wider and more flexible than ever before.

"It's a major departure from the old-style day centres, and ties in with our commitment to providing people with disabilities with genuine choice over how they lead their lives."

Other projects planned include pottery, IT, horticulture, sport and the performing arts. They are all due to be up and running by July.

Pre-school judged as 'outstanding'

THE Arnott pre-school at Thamesmead has been judged as 'outstanding' by Ofsted, the Government's education watchdog.

Inspectors praised it for its "exceptional quality of teaching, the strong relationships built between staff and parents, the excellent support for children with special education needs and or disabilities, and being highly committed to safeguarding and protecting children in their care."

Arnott is one of two pre-schools belonging to the Peabody Group in Thamesmead which has been awarded an 'outstanding' rating. Peabody's Chief Executive, Stephen Howlett, said: "I am delighted that Arnott Pre-school has been recognised as outstanding. The dedication and care staff show is second to none. Ofsted's strapline is 'raising standards improving lives' which is exactly what we aim for and are achieving."

Arnott Pre-school offers affordable childcare to residents of Thamesmead for 39 weeks a year, providing morning and afternoon sessions Monday-Friday during term time.

ROOM TO LEARN AND PLAY: Council leader Denise Hyland checks out the new classrooms and playground at De Lucy school with pupils, above, and with headteacher Kerry Lodge, right

Class

THE borough's primary schools are getting bigger and brighter, from fully-modernised or brand new buildings. The new schools are brighter and better equipped than ever before. It's all part of a major investment to meet the needs of the growing school-age population. GREENWICH TIME reports

THE two latest primary schools to benefit from full-scale makeovers are both in Abbey Wood, St Thomas-à-Becket RC in Eynsham Drive and De Lucy in Cookhill Road.

St Thomas-à-Becket has grown from one form of entry to two, as part of a £3.49 million project. This involved redeveloping the old City Leaning Centre and putting up two new buildings. There is now new accommodation for Nursery, Reception and Key Stage 1 and 2 children.

There are also plans for a second refurbishment at the school's Mottisfont Road site, which is due to be finished in time for the start of the new school year in September.

Bernadette Greally, acting headteacher, said, "As St Thomas-à-Becket continues to grow, we have been very fortunate to have the new site at Eynsham Drive for our children to have a place to learn in a fresh environment."

"Our new buildings and grounds provide us with scope to develop our imagination, our capabilities to achieve and most important of all to enjoy the place where we come to learn and teach each day."

De Lucy has been given eight new classrooms. Six will be for Key Stage 2 children, with an additional classroom in the Early Years block so all reception classes will be next to each other. There is also an addition classroom in Key Stage 1 to enable all Year 1 classes to be next to each other.

In the new Key Stage 2 block there are six new classrooms, including two group rooms, office and storage space. The hall has been extended and is now large enough to hold every child in the school. The school grounds have also been extended, and additional green space has been converted into a forest schools area.

Kerry Lodge, headteacher at De Lucy, said: "The expansion has provided space to accommodate the growing school and supported better organisation of the additional classes. The extension of the outside area has ensured 90 reception children have a large play area and a classroom which can provide opportunities including a stage and a mud pie kitchen."

Meanwhile, James Wolfe Primary is extending its centre for deaf children by adding extension at Randall Place for reception classes. It is growing from two to four forms of entry with

Top marks for new look schools

Other schools that have already benefitted from new classrooms, better playgrounds, more space to learn and exciting new technology include:

Willow Dene special school in Plumstead which opened in February after a £14 million rebuild into an ultra-modern new learning centre. The new buildings mean the whole school is under one roof for the first time. There is a warm water pool, and 23 light and airy classrooms with specialist equipment to meet children's specific needs.

Foxfield Primary in Sandbach Place, Woolwich, where the old, dull 1970s concrete buildings were bulldozed, and replaced by new classrooms, a large hall with an amphitheatre outside, a flexible studio space for dance and drama, and a library.

Christ Church C of E Primary on Shooters Hill where the existing buildings were extended, remodelled and updated to provide a new assembly and dining hall, a kitchen, a staffroom, an extra classroom, and a multi-use games area (MUGA).

Cllr John Fahy, the council's cabinet member for children's services, said: "We are investing for the future so that all our schools have excellent facilities to give our children the best start in their education, and so that we have sufficient school places available to meet the needs of a growing population. This investment in our schools is a priority. These modern facilities will enhance pupils' learning opportunities, while we continue to ensure there are sufficient places for the families who need them."

"Winter Angels" urgently needed in Greenwich

Could you be a volunteer and spare some time to help a vulnerable person this winter

Age UK Bromley & Greenwich is looking for volunteers to help to provide companionship and support to older people over the winter period to help prevent unnecessary admissions to hospital and for those returning from hospital.

The role will involve visiting an older person in their home, over a period of six to twelve weeks, helping them with tasks such as shopping, collection of prescriptions, returning library books, meal preparation, accompanying them on short walks and other social outings. Volunteers will be needed at various times across daytimes, evenings and weekends to suit your availability.

Full training will be provided but volunteers will need good communication skills; an understanding and empathy with the needs of older people, particularly in respect of those who may have lost confidence or some of their mobility.

She was beautiful... She was unsinkable... She was doomed...

On April 15th 1912, the Titanic, the greatest ship in the world, slipped below the frigid waters of the Atlantic. J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star Line, stepped into a lifeboat and sailed away from the stricken ship, sailed away from his passengers, sailed away from the cries and screams and tears. The Man Who Left the Titanic evokes that terrible voyage and asks whether Bruce Ismay only did what any of us might have done in the same circumstances, or whether his actions that night should consign his name to infamy? Was he a coward, or merely human?

Gold Award-winning comedian and science enthusiast Robin Ince (BBC Radio 4's Infinite Monkey Cage with Brian Cox) continues to prod into our brains with a sharpened pencil. SCENE

IT takes courage to give up a lead West End role, especially Michael Jackson's Thriller Live. But when you get picked for The Voice and make it through to the quarter finals, the gamble seems far more worthwhile.

Originally from Dordrecht, in The Netherlands, Voice contestant Autumn Sharif, who sadly got knocked out of the show on Saturday, moved to Woolwich at the young age of eight. She went to college in Plumstead, but was destined to sing. "I've been lucky... I've always known I would sing".

Singing at three, she was writing music at seven, her first song surprisingly about football. Her road's not been easy with late nights and touring but when the break came, she never looked back. It was football that again intervened. "I won a competition, run by Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT) for young performers between 10 and 19 and ended up as back up to Lawson at the London O2."

One year later she was auditioning on TV's The Voice singing Katy B's 'Crying for No Reason.' Less than 20 seconds into her solo, Ricky Wilson, the lead singer of The Kaiser Chiefs, pressed his red button and the rest as they say, is history. "I've been so privileged and blessed...but I couldn't have done it without the love and support of my family".

The family was around her on Saturday night when sadly her time in the competition came to a close. Her influences are extensive and her heroes eclectic. "Michael Jackson,

But win, lose or draw, "it's been the perfect experience" and Autumn has made plans for the future. "I've got three albums of songs to write down," she said smiling, "I'm so lucky I get to do what I love".

Cllr Jackie Smith, who sat on the judging panel at the Charlton Athletic Community Trust competition said: "We work hard to champion young talent here in the borough and it's fantastic to see a local girl doing so well. When we saw Autumn at the competition run by CACT I knew she'd go far and I am certain that come what may, she has a bright future ahead of her."

Cllr John Fahy, royal borough cabinet member for Children's Services said: "We're proud that in our borough we can provide opportunities for talented young people to further their dreams. Autumn Sharif has already made a real impact here in Greenwich and it's brilliant she's now getting wider recognition - I wish her all the very best for the future."

Shooting with Light on tour

DYNAMIC theatre company Idle Motion is working with Greenwich Theatre to put on moving multi-media show about two pioneering war photographers.

It will tour the UK in April and return to the theatre for three nights in May.

'Shooting With Light' is about Gerda Taro, the first female photographer to die on the front line, and her partner Robert Capa, the iconic photographer who covered five wars including the Second World War across Europe.

"It's about their story and how they pioneered photo-journalism as it is known today," said Idle Motion's Grace Chapman. "We like to find stories from history that excite us but are unknown to most people. Gerda Taro was so talented but not many people know who she was."

"The show has a second story about Robert Capa's brother, Cornell, which is quite emotional as he searches for the couple's missing negatives. The two storylines run along together and hopefully tease out themes that people will find interesting and exciting."

Shooting With Light will be at Greenwich Theatre from May 7-9. For more information, please visit www.greenwichtheatre.org.uk

NEW sessions are being launched to help people become more savvy with their laptops.

Digital Labs@Mycenae House starts on Thursday March 26 and runs from 10.30am-noon. Participants can bring along their tablets and laptops and get information on looking after their devices and using them with confidence.

Even if you don't have a device you can drop in, have a chat and have a go on a spare. There's free WiFi and internet access. The sessions are being run by Paul Clayton, who runs Soulchip Communications, a home and classroom IT training consultancy based in Deptford.

He said: "I specialise in working with making digital devices easier to use. I will be hosting this session for people in the area looking for assistance with their digital device. Hopefully these can be regular events if people are interested."

The hour and a half sessions is £8. Further details on 07958 251 448 or visit www.soulchip.co.uk

2. The general effect of the Orders will be to place an experimental basis to shorten by 3 metres the permit parking place on the south-east side of Winforton Street, adjacent to No. 46 Point Hill and replace it with single yellow line 'controlled hours' waiting restrictions.
3. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Strategic Transportation on 020 8921 2357.

The Orders and other documents giving more detailed particulars of the Orders are available for inspection during normal office hours until the end of six weeks from the date on which the Orders were made, at the Directorate of Regeneration, Enterprise and Skills, Strategic Transportation, Royal Borough of Greenwich, The Woolwich Centre, 35 Wellington Street, SE18 6HQ.
5. If any person wishes to question the validity of the Orders or all or any of the provisions contained therein on the grounds that they are not within the powers conferred by the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, or that any requirement of that Act or of any instrument made under that Act has not been complied with, that person may, within six weeks from the date on which the Orders were made, apply for that purpose to the High Court.
6. The Council will consider in due course whether the provisions of the Orders should be continued in force indefinitely by means of permanent Orders made under sections 6 and 45 of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984. Any person may object to the making of the permanent Orders for the purpose of such indefinite continuation, within a period of six months beginning with the date on which the experimental Orders come into force or, if either of the Orders is varied by another Order or modified pursuant to section 10(2) of the 1984 Act, beginning with the date on which the variation or modification or the latest variation or modification comes into force. Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 435

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order. Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

Apply in one of three ways

- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available on Wednesday 1 April 2015 at midday. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on Sunday 29 March 2015.

GreenwichHomes

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

IMPORTANT POLICY INFORMATION FOR THOSE AWARDED PRIORITY

When a priority is awarded, you will receive one offer of accommodation.

The following rules are used to allocate properties to applicants in Bands A, B and C, to make sure the Council makes best use of housing stock to meet needs.

- Two children (whatever gender) under 10 years old can share a bedroom
- Two children (same gender) under 16 years old can share a bedroom
- Two children of opposite gender where at least one is 10 years old or over need a bedroom each
- Each person over 16 years old needs their own bedroom
- A couple and lone parents need one bedroom
- Expected babies are counted as a person from the six month of pregnancy
- Band C applicants - Houses are allocated to a household with children (aged 15 or under)

Only RBG tenants who currently occupy houses in bands A and B, will be considered for rehousing to another house. All other priority applicants will be considered for flats or maisonettes.

Note: There are separate Allocations Policies for applicants with priority from regeneration areas.

Like for Like Moves

Council tenants housed through priority Bands A & B, are generally offered a similar type of property to that they currently occupy, of the size they require. This is because rehousing is being offered to meet safety or other needs, rather than to provide more desirable housing. Tenants, who want to move to improve the quality of their accommodation, must do so through Band C, where applicants are housed in date order.

For full details on our policies, please see the Allocations Scheme which is available on the Royal Borough of Greenwich website

GreenwichHomes adverts

Greenwich Time is now being published 50 weeks a year and is delivered to all residents. GreenwichHome adverts are included in every issue.

Direct and online

A NEW online directory has been launched this month offering residents access to information on social care, health, wellbeing and advice services in the royal borough.

The Greenwich Community directory acts as a single point of information and advice on services to help people to live well in Greenwich.

The directory is aimed at Greenwich residents who want to improve their own health, or who are isolated or vulnerable. It is also geared to anyone who wants advice on getting involved in activities to improve their wellbeing or to help them become more involved in their local community. It also offers support to carers, family, friends and those acting on behalf of vulnerable people.

The directory lists council and NHS services alongside those provided by local voluntary organisations. It also links directly into the online NHS Choices service, allowing residents to find their nearest GP, dentist or pharmacy.

Local voluntary organisations have been trained to support residents – particularly those without access to a computer, or who lack online confidence – in getting the best out of the directory.

The directory will be expanded later this year, allowing residents to complete an online referral form to help establish their level of need for social care and build a Wellbeing Plan online, identifying their health and wellbeing goals. They'll be able to use this to connect online to services that will help them to meet those goals and will enable them to construct a shortlist of services.

● Visit the directory at www.greenwichcommunitydirectory.org.uk
